Princess Easy Pleasy was with her parents in Hong Kong for their winter vacation.

Nothing was as she liked it to be.

'I will not drink this! I want the same milk I have at home,' protested Princess Easy Pleasy.

'Our perfect princess,' cooed the king and queen and called for the royal packer. 'Take note for our next vacation.'

So for their spring vacation to China along went the cow.

Natasha Sharma is an award-winning children's book author with twelve books published till date. Writing across age groups, from picture books to historical fiction for children under the History Mystery series, she is extremely pleased to have found her way to the world of children's literature with its sleepless nights of plotting and joyful moments of crazy character creation.

Priya Kuriyan is a children's book illustrator, comic book artist and an animator. A graduate of the National Institute of Design (Ahmedabad), she has directed educational films for the Sesame Street show (India) and the Children's Film Society of India (CFSI) and illustrated numerous children's books for various Indian publishers. She currently lives in New Delhi, filling her sketchbooks with funny caricatures of its residents.
